

Learn What You Can Earn...

in the fast-growing field of health and medical sciences at

LifeWorks

science.education.nih.gov/LifeWorks

At the LifeWorks Web site you can:

- Read about real people who have achieved success in their careers
- Find careers that match your personal interests, skills and abilities
- Browse careers by salary, education required, interests and job title
- Learn about working conditions, certification and licensing requirements and job market trends
- Discover the types of high school and postsecondary courses you should consider for specific career paths
- Find links to professional organizations

